

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Thank you for taking the time to express your views on issues affecting our country. While we may not agree on every issue, as your President, I pledge to work with Congress to find common ground to make the United States stronger and more prosperous. I look forward to the enormous opportunity we have to work together in order to solve many of our most important problems for the benefit of all Americans.

I appreciate hearing your thoughts and knowing we share the same pride in our country and passion for improving it. If we unite, we will make America stronger, freer, and greater than ever before.

Sincerely,
